At 12:14 the Senate, on motion of Mr. Allison, adjourned.

The Rules.

A resolution was adopted for the appointment of a committee to join a committee from the Senate to notify the President of the presence of a quorum in the two houses, and that they were ready to receive any communication he may have to make. The Speaker appointed the following: Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota: Mr. Capron, Rhode Island; Mr. Williams, of Mississippi, and Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, offered the resolution adopted in the Republican caucus providing that the rules of the Fifty-seventh Congress be adopted for the Fifty-eighth, with the addition that the Committee on Industrial Arts and Expositions be made a standing committee and increased to fifteen members.

Mr. Williams, of Mississippi, said the minority should have a larger representation on the committee than now provided, saying that when their representation was reduced, it was expla ned to have been due to the fact that the Democratic membership had been decreased. Now, head of the present propassed, and he honed.

vided, saying that when their representation was reduced, it was explaned to have been due to the fact that the Democratic membership had been decreased. Now, he said, it has been increased, and he hoped the majority would grant the request.

Mr. DeArmond, of Missouri, said the rules should not be adopted for the entire Congress, but only for the extra session. Then he said they could be tested. He also spoke for an increased representation of representation of the minority on committees.

Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, replying, said if there was merit in the request of the minority, it no doubt would be recognized.

On demand the ayes and noes were called, the resolution being agreed to by a vote of 181 to 165.

Lottery for Seats.

The blennial lottery for seats was begin at 2 c'clock under a resolution offered by Mr. Sherman, of New York, who also asked unanimous consent, which was granted, that Mr. Bingham, of Pennsylvania, the oldest Republican member in point of service, might choose his sact before the drawing began. Mr. Sherman's request, also included Mr. Payne, of New York, who also asked unanimous consent, which was granted, that Mr. Bingham, of Pennsylvania, the oldest Republican member in point of service, might choose his sact before the drawing began. Mr. Sherman's request, also included Mr. Payne, of New York, the Republican floor leader, Mr. Richardson, of Tennesses, the oldest Democratic floor leader. The latter rotained his place on the center aisle.

Mr. Bherman, of New York, drew first thoice and Mr. Overstreet, of Indiana, the second.

When most of the members had drawn seats, messengers began bringing in the floral tributes. One piece made to represent a locomotive was brought in amid laughter and placed on the desk of Mr. Baker, of New York, who offered a resolution in the Democratic caucus, proposing that Democratic members do not accept favors or passes from railroads. By resolution Isaac R. Hill, James English, Fenton Knight and Joseph Sinnot were placed on the roll as the special employes allowed the minority.

John T. Clancy also was retained as a special employe.

The Senate.

The Senate.

The house adjourned until to-morrow. The Senate was in session just fourteen minutes. The salleries were crowded to their capacity, but not nearly so many people were turned away as on the House side. The Senate chamber looked like a great floral establishment. On every Senator's desk was a basket of roses, or chrysanthemums, generally the latter. The desks of Senator Hanna, of Ohio, and Senator Gorman, of Maryland, were almost hidden by the flowers sent by admirers. Senator Daniel was not at his desk, but it had a basket of roses on it, and Senator Martin looked at the presiding officer from behind a mass of flowers sent by admirers. On the desks of Senator Platt, of New York, and Senator Stewart, of Nevada, were masses of white blossoms, tied with a profusion of white ribbons. These Senators have within the past few weeks taken unto themselves wives.

Five minutes before noon. Senator Gorman and Senator Hanna entered the clamber. The audience did not see them until these two leading figures in American politics met in the center alse, half way between the main entrance and the president's desk. The two smiled broadly and shook hands in the most cordial fashion. The galleries, and many of the senators applauded roundly.

President is Very Anxious That Party Shall Have Aid of the Ohioan.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 9.—
A conference of significance and importance was held at the executive offices to day between President Roosevelt and Senator Hanna, of Ohlo. The President formally requested Senator Hanna to retain the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee and to conduct the campaign of next year. In the course of the conference the subject of the Presidential campaign was considered briefly, not only the chairmanship of the National Committee being involved, but also Mr. Hanna's reported aspirations to the Presidency.

Committee being involved, but also Mr. Hanna's reported aspirations to the Presidency.

The President urged the Senator to rotain the chairmanship of the National Committee in order that the Republican party might in the approaching campaign have the benefit of his services at the head of the national organization. Senator Hanna, it is understood, indicated his desire to retire from the work of active political management. The Pre ideal trge him in strong terms to continue in the political harness, pointing out to him that as the head of the organization he would inspire great confidence throughout the country.

No definite conclusion was reached, the understanding being that a further and more extended conference would be held in the near future. When Senator Hanna left the White Houes he declined to discuss the subject of the national chairmanship or to comment on the reports that he might be a candidate for the Presidency. From other sources it is learned that the Senator has indicated that he will not be a Presidential candidate, and has let it be understood that he means what he says.

Senator Hoar, always a stickler for strict form, inquired whether the rolical should not come first. The Chair decided otherwise, and Mr. Bacon escorted Mr. Mailory to the rostrum, where the oath was administered.

The roll-call showed seventy senators present, more than a quorum.

Democratic Senators Discuss Panama Revolution.

Panama Revolution.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Democratic steering committee of the Senate was in session for two hours to-day, the greator part of which time was devoted to the consideration of the situation on the Isthmus. The question was discussed in all its aspects, but especial attention was given to the allegation that this country has been instrumental in producing the revoit at Panama and Colon.

A number of the Senators present expressed the opinion that the administration had not been unfriendly to nor ignorant of the movement from its beginning, but it was decided to wait until there is further light upon the question before advising the Democrate to take a position on the question as a party. Some of the members expressed the opinion that the mass of the people are so anxious to secure a canal that many would even endorse a revolution on the Isthmus if it should prove a means of securing one. Senator Morgan was before the committee for quite a time and advocated a vigorous polley of criticism.

The steering committee also discussed the question of policy to be pursued with reference to action upon the proposed measure putting in force the Cuban treaty. It was decided to postpone further consideration of this question until the House sends over its bill It was apparent, however, that a major ity of the Democratic Senators would oppose the bill.

The steering committee also took up the subject of reorganizing the Sonate committee and decided to meet from day to day for the purpose of filling the Democratic committee vacancies.
